

The Victorian Planning and Environmental Law Association, in conjunction with Foley's List presents

Ethical Leadership in the Built Environment Tackling the tough issues – what would you do?

What are the major ethical challenges facing our sector today? The 'clash of values' as projects become more international in scope? How we negotiate affordable housing? Or perhaps, as we've recently heard from Justice Kirby, it's about protecting human rights through the planning process. And of course, this year is an election year. If it were up to you – what would you do, and why? We will be putting these questions to four eminent persons from across the sector, who have thought about these issues and will share their insights and experience.
